Semester Overview

Semester 1

In semester one of our Competency-Based Mastery Level program, students are introduced to Anatomy and Physiology and Musculoskeletal Anatomy which forms the core expertise base for RMTs. In addition, students are introduced to the palpation, manual and assessment skills required for clinical practice and finally, to the subjects of Ethics and Professionalism and Communication which support them in understanding and fulfilling their professional role as regulated healthcare professionals in British Columbia.

Semester 2

In semester two, students continue to build on the foundational knowledge they have acquired in Anatomy and Physiology one and deepen and develop this knowledge by expanding it to include Pathology and Neurology. In semester two students also deepen and expand their palpation and manual skills and are introduced to therapeutic exercises. Additionally, in semester two students begin to integrate theory and practice by beginning their internship in our professional intern clinic where they provide relaxation oriented massage therapy to the general public.

Semester 3

In semester three, students continue to build and advance their critical thinking and reasoning skills in order to support them in effective clinical management. In semester three students are introduced to numerous soft tissue complaints and conditions which RMTs typically treat. With increased knowledge and skill and the enhanced ability to integrate knowledge and skills students in term three are provided with the opportunity to begin treating soft tissue pathologies in our professional student intern clinic.

Semester 4

With the deepening and enhancement of clinical skills and critical thinking abilities in semester four, students are ready to treat more challenging orthopedic and systemic conditions utilizing advanced treatment techniques typically utilized by registered massage therapists for managing these conditions.

Semester 5

In semester five, students are introduced to several advanced techniques including Cranial Sacral, Mio Facial and MLD. They are also introduced in term five to the business and practice management skills they will need to support them in building and operating successful massage therapy practices as well as provided with a review of Ethics and Professionalism and an in-depth and rigorous introduction to Health Regulation which will support them in successfully completing the jurisprudence component of their provincial board exams. At the completion of semester five students are confidently prepared to undertake the CMTBC's licensure examination for entry to practice.

Tuition, Books and Supplies

Tuition

Unlike public colleges and universities, WCCMT is not subsidized by the government and is therefore supported entirely by fees. In addition, because WCCMT is a private college, it is required to go through annual audits by the Private Career Institute Training Agency (PCTIA) as well as 5 year audits through its governing body, the College of Massage Therapy of BC (CMBTC). WCCMT also collects fees from the public for student intern treatments in our public clinics. While these fees do not cover the cost of operating the clinics, they do contribute to reducing the amount WCCMT is required to charge for tuition. Tuition is raised periodically, as required, based on increase in operation costs.

Tuition for WCCMT's Registered Massage Therapy Diploma program is $29,150 and is not subject to HST.

Books and Supplies

WCCMT does not supply the sales of textbooks and supplies to students; however a list of required and recommended textbooks is supplied at the start of each term. In addition to the textbooks, students are responsible for acquiring their own portable treatment table for practical homework and outreach treatment use.

Most required textbooks are available through the University of Victoria Bookstore. We estimate the approximate cost of books and supplies to be $3,000.

Term Dates

The Registered Massage Therapy Diploma program consists of five terms at fifteen weeks each with a two to three week break in between each term. The program is offered on a full-time study basis only.
